Write the following Paragraph in Notepad:

Climate Change

Climate change refers to long-term shifts in temperatures and weather patterns. These changes can be natural, but human activities have been the main driver since the 1800s, mainly due to burning fossil fuels like coal, oil, and gas. These activities increase greenhouse gas levels in the atmosphere, causing the Earth's temperature to rise. As a result, glaciers are melting, sea levels are rising, and extreme weather events like floods, droughts, and hurricanes are becoming more frequent. Climate change affects agriculture, water resources, and biodiversity, leading to food shortages and habitat loss. It also impacts human health through poor air quality and heatwaves. To fight climate change, we need to reduce carbon emissions, use renewable energy sources, conserve energy, and protect forests. Everyone—from individuals to governments—has a role to play in protecting our planet. Taking small steps today can help secure a better, safer future for generations to come.

climate change contributes to more wildfires, desertification, and the spread of diseases, as warmer temperatures allow pests and pathogens to survive in more areas. Ocean temperatures and acidity levels are also rising, which harms marine life like coral reefs and fish populations, affecting both ecosystems and livelihoods. To fight climate change, we need to reduce carbon emissions, switch to renewable energy sources like solar and wind, conserve energy, recycle, and protect forests and green spaces. Governments should enforce environmental laws, support green technology, and promote sustainable development.
